1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the term "is disclosed" is currently recited. The abstract must not refer to the written specification. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-3,6-20,23-51 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Klein US Pub 2001/0037248A1.

Klein discloses a RFID label (tag) that contains printed information and electronically stored and transmittable information [0023][0024]. It is disclosed that the information may include address information [0024], which inherently includes port information. It is disclosed that the information held in the label is communicated to a processing device [0031]. The communication means may be Bluetooth [0014] inherently includes the packet information as claimed.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 4,5,21,22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Klein US Pub 2001/0037248A1. Klein discloses that which is seen above. Klein does not specifically disclose the "second" tag as currently claimed. However, Official Notice is taken that a plurality of tags (or labels) containing information associated with a single object is old and well known. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use a plurality of labels on an object in the Klein invention. This would allow for more data or alternate data to be maintained with respect to the object. It would also allow for an "update" of the data by associating a "second" label to the object.

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Wilz, Sr. et al 5,992,752, Reber et al 6,032,195, Kikinis WO 98/40823 and Parry WO 98/49813 all disclose reading "tag" information to access and "address".
